A NOOK BY THE BOOK

1. WOVEN CHANDELIER

"We needed something that felt a little bit whimsical and had some texture. We also wanted to make sure natural light would pass through it."

2. ARTWORK

"I love using vintage artwork in a kitchen to add warmth and character. It's important to mix subjects, so we paired landscapes with still life."

3. TULIP TABLE

"I always use pedestal tables in nooks so there aren't any legs in the way when getting in and out. This one is practical, easy to clean with kids, and coordinates with the style of the midcentury table and chairs in the adjacent dining room."

4. BANQUETTE

"The seat's leather is a rich cognac color and really pops against the white walls and putty cabinets. We added tufting to the striped back for extra texture."

5. CHAIR

"This rush seat chair tied well with the chandelier. We wanted something small so it would not protrude into the walkway."

Designer Emily Ruff of Seattle-based Cohesively Curated remodeled this kitchen corner to seat a family of four and fit in seamlessly with its surroundings. Her furnishing, texture, and finish choices ensure the nook also shines all on its own.
